$9,000 PAID FOR CATTLE AT IRVINGTON

In One Day--Paul Wilson and Harvey Ditto Were the Buyers--Sellers Get Fine Prices.

SATISFACTION ALL AROUND.

Nine thousand dollars was the amount of money paid out in Irvington last Saturday for cattle. Paul Wilson and Harvey Ditto were the buyers. It was a busy day for the farmers, and they lost sight of the war and hard times for at least that day.

Among the sellers were: John Nevitt, 12 head for $845.43; Board & Akers, 15 head for $1,085.05; W. A. Simmons, 25 head, $1,611.62. A number of others in bunches from two to five head, making 130 head in all, amounting to $9,000.

Weatherford & Goodman loaded a car at Harned. They bought 23 head from Lon Glasscock for $1,213, and 10 head from J. H. Quiggins for $866. They have about 100 head more bought for delivery later on.

Board & Akers bought a nice bunch of feeders from Harvey Ditto.

Hon. R. A. Miller Resigns.

Hon. Reuben A. Miller has resigned as general counsel for the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway company. Mr. Miller had charge of the legal affairs of the company in Owen sboro and will continue as local attorney there for the railroad. His time will be devoted to the general practice of his profession. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary.

Sunday, October 11, will be the sixtieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Skillman. They will have with them for the day their children, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. B. Skillman and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Young Skillman, of Morganfield; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Skillman, of Louisville; Mr. O. T. Skillman, Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Skillman, of this city. They will be at home to their friends in the afternoon.

Fine Herd At Mt. Pisgah.

Henry Haynes, of Hebbardsville, was at Mt. Pisgah Farm last week looking for Jersey cows. He never saw a finer herd. Byrdie's Foxy Girl 3rd Reg. No 255262 and a heifer calf Gretchen's Queen, Reg. No 314263, American Jersey Cattle Club both of which secured first prize at the County Fair last week captivated him. He contracted for a heifer calf from this herd. Mrs. Heron has sold from her herd in the last three months two cows and three heifer calves for $500. She also sells every month $45 worth of butter. Mr. and Mrs. Heron are building up a reputation for pure bred Jersey stock that is state wide.

MILLINERY OPENING

At Beard's Store Creates Much Interest--Beautiful Window Display of Millinery and Dress Goods.

The millinery opening of B. F. Beard & Company's store which was advertised in The Breckenridge News last week, won admiration from every woman in Hardinsburg and others who were at the county capital that day. The window display of dress goods and millinery was most attractively combined. Mrs. Amos Boards, who has charge of the dress goods, made extensive preparations to be of service to each customer in this department. Among the showings were exquisite silks. Miss Genevieve Clark, of Washington, who suggests that all the people buy cotton in October, would have been pleased to have seen the extraordinary line of cotton goods in colors suitable for every kind of a dress. Mrs. Evans millinery shows personality and study of becoming hats and trimmings. The soft velvet effects, and the military styles with silver and gold ornaments were very popular sales.

Annual Meeting of the L. H. and St. L. Ry.

The Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad held its annual meeting in Louisville last week. Directors were elected as follows: Milton H. Smith, Harry Weissinger, W. L. Mapother, Oscar Fenley, Lucien Irwin, L. W. Botts, J. H. Ellis, John L. Helm.

The directors re-elected the following officers: L. J. Irwin, president; W. L. Mapother, vice president; Ridgeley Cayce, secretary; L. W. Botts, treasurer.

School Children Lose Mail.

A great deal of complaint is heard of persons not getting their copies of The Breckenridge News and even losing letters. Postmaster Lightfoot says he thinks this is due to children getting the mail and carrying it to school. He has asked the teachers to request the children not to go to the postoffice going to school. The colored teachers have stopped their pupils and the response was greatly appreciated by the postmaster. Letters have been found on the streets and some were returned to the office.

The Lyddan's New Home.

C. A. Penick, carpenter and contractor is putting the finishing touches of Mr. and Mrs. Geo H. Lyddan's new residence near Irvington. Mr. Penick is very proud of this job and says it is one of the handsomest residences in Breckenridge county. He is now building a two story residence for Forest Smith.

War Affects Oil Fields.

E. A. Soper who has been in Oklahoma working in the oil fields, returned to his home in Fordsville last week. He says on account of the European war there were 10,000 men laid off who were working in the Oil fields.

Fuqua-Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fuqua announce the engagement of their daughter, Hattie Belle, to Dr. W. E. Gardner. The wedding will take place in November.—Owensboro Messenger.

Campaigning.

The Hon. W. S. Ball, candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, spoke at Burton's schoolhouse last Saturday at one o'clock p. m., and at Balltown at night. This week he goes into Ohio county where he is billed for a number of speeches.

Redpaths Coming Here.

The devoted friends of good music in Cloverport will have an opportunity to hear the Redpaths at the American Theatre in this city Saturday night, October 10. They are popular singers at Chautauquas all over the north and south. The quartette will be a treat to Cloverport.

Edits College Paper.

Mark Parrett, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Nace Lewis, of this city, has become associate editor of The College Cheer of St. Joseph's school at Collegeville. Mr. Parrett is making a splendid record in his college work and his editorial connection is not only an honor to him but will mean success to the school journal.

Suit Filed.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Oct. 6. (Special)—The suit filed by The Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Co. against the firm of Dowell & Miller was filed at the request of one of the members of the firm merely to bring about a settlement of affairs of the firm. Had it not been requested, the bank would not have brought the suit, as the bank is amply protected.

Moenkhaus-Watlington.

Many friends of Mrs. Ella Watlington, of Evansville, Ind., formerly of Stephensport, Ky., will be surprised to hear of her marriage to Mr. H. M. Moenkhaus, of Huntingburg, Ind., which took place in Louisville, Saturday, October 3. Her son, Edgar Lee, accompanied her to Louisville and witnessed the ceremony. After a two-weeks trip they will reside in Huntingburg where the groom is in the wholesale grocery business. They will reside in their own home, which is newly furnished and awaiting their return.

"Firing" Tobacco at Glen Dean's Large Warehouse.

The "News" has often heard of tobacco being "fired" to cure it up nicely and quickly, but never saw the work being done until the other day, when we happened to drop in on Col. E. L. Robertson, who was up to his neck in smoke and fire in his large warehouse at Glen Dean. He had eight iron kettles full of fire and the smoke was rolling out of them like a fog on the Ohio river. He was certainly doing a good job.

He had 10,000 pounds hung in the house and said it would require twenty-four hours to do the work.

G. E. Arms.

Mr. Arms was recently here from Lakeland visiting his home at West View. He has been an attendant for several years and says he has very little trouble with those who are mentally afflicted. Mr. Arms is a kind and efficient man in his work. His services at Lakeland are very satisfactory.

SCHOOL NEWS.

By Supt. J. W. Trent.

The first Teachers' Association of the year was held at Constantine on September 26. The meeting was arranged for an afternoon session. A good attendance was out, and a carefully prepared program was rendered. Mr. Lyon, the teacher, having previously attended to all preliminaries necessary to a successful association. Constantine should be congratulated on having secured the services of a teacher who has the educational interest of his community at heart as Mr. Lyon has.

On Saturday, October 3, the teachers of the Second Educational Division held their annual association over at Hites Run. This was arranged for an all day meeting and dinner on the ground, and those who are acquainted with the people of Hites Run and their teacher, Mr. Hickerson, know that neither do things by halves, and all who were present Saturday were reassured of these facts, for their meeting was certainly a real feast both to mind and body. Meetings of this kind bring together not only teachers but pupils, patrons, trustees and all school officials, where they may discuss the common problems of education, and thus awaken an interest in the cause of public education. No teacher present was more interested in the work of the day than was Mr. T. M. Bates, Chairman of that Educational Division. He is always ready to go wherever duty seems to call him, or do whatever he can for the best interest of the schools in his division. So here is extending to the people of Hites Run our appreciation of their meeting, and many thanks for the great dinner, and hoping that we may have the pleasure of meeting with you again in just such a meeting.

The date of the Association for each Educational Division was fixed at the Institute, and the program for each appears in each of the county papers, so there is no excuse for any teacher not being at some one of these meetings. Each teacher will please remember that the law requires that you attend an association somewhere during the year or teach a day extra, and I shall adhere strictly to this law.

Mrs. Jake Weatherholt Dead.

Mrs. Jake Weatherholt, age 51 years died of cancer Saturday night at her home in this city. She had been ill for sometime. She leaves her husband and three children, Mrs. Anna Jarboe, Miss Florence Weatherholt, and Jake Weatherholt. Her son was here to see her last week. He returned here Sunday night with his mothers three brothers, Messrs Louis, Truman, Chas. Adams, and son Ernest, of Louisville, to attend the funeral, but it was held Sunday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. W. C. Frank and music rendered by the Methodist Choir.

Goes to Ashland, Ky.

Mrs. E. A. Rhodes who has been visiting her father, Mr. Cliff Mattingly, at Axtel, returned to Ashland, Ky., last week where her husband is located. Her sister, Miss Irene Mattingly, returned with her.

Mr. Morton Ill.

Mr. Henry Morton is ill at the home of his daughter, Miss Nannie Morton, in this city. His illness was caused from a fall and he was worse yesterday.

Upholds School Election

Judge J. R. Layman rendered a decision in the Grayson circuit court upholding the election by which the Hardinsburg School district voted in favor of a Graded School. The case will probably go to the Court of Appeals.

Irvington Now in the Presidential-Class.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The postoffice at Irvington, Breckenridge county, Kentucky, until now a fourth-class office, today enters the Presidential class. This means that the postmaster will be appointed by the President and that the civil service examination held recently to establish an eligible list from which to select a postmaster will become inoperative.

MOORE'S Air Tight Heaters

Built like a furnace and equipped with an ever-lasting fire pot which burns the gas, the smoke and the soot. It converts the 38 per cent of fuel value that is usually lost, into heat and makes soft coal as valuable in heat-giving power as hard coal. It draws all cold air from off the floor and throws off sufficient heated air to warm the room where the stove is and 2 and as many as 3 adjoining rooms. It certainly is a wonder in the way of a stove. To see one in operation will convince you.

Electric Fans For Horses.

The Utah Light and Railway Company, of Salt Lake City, has installed two large electric ceiling fans in its stable, where about forty horses are housed, to be used in hot weather to aid in keeping the animals cool. The fans also serve to keep the flies from pestering the horses.

GERMANS PREDICT SUCCESS

Encircling Move- ment Fails.

REPORT FROM BERLIN

Big Success All Along the Line
Expected There.

ANOTHER STORY IN PARIS

French Capital Cheered By Exactly Contrary News.

Berlin special: The new encircling movement undertaken by the French has failed and a big success by the Germans is expected all along the line.

Paris special: General Joffre sends news that spurs optimism. The flags of France and England have been carried forward at the west and east of the line, despite desperate efforts of the Germans to mend their failing fortunes.

The allies resumed the movement to envelop General Von Kluck, stormed the German trenches north of Soissons and accelerated the retreat of the always belated and never fortunate Crown Prince Frederick William.

Reserved, cautious and generalized, the government reports contain, nevertheless, a new note of satisfaction, one that rebukes doubters and sends waves of cheering through the capital. The thrust to destroy Von Kluck's supply lines and roll his army back upon Von Buelow's division again is under headway north and east of Arras, where the fighting, tremendously violent, is indecisive. There are reports that flying columns have circled toward the Belgium frontier.

Probably the most important success of the twenty-second day of the battle was gained near Soissons by breaching the first end of the Germans long fortified and almost impregnable position reaching from the Aisne to the Suippe. Hitherto the Germans have frustrated all such attacks. Eastward to the Argonne ridge, the combatants, both behind unbreakable fortifications, did not risk frontal attacks and the battle fury slackened. There allies and Germans await the decision at the west.

Crown Prince Hard Pressed.

But in the forests of the Argonne misfortune runs at the heel of the German crown prince. His efforts to cooperate with the Bavarians and Von Heeringen in assaulting the barrier fortresses were defeated and he was energetically pursued as he fled northward. His repulse necessarily weakens the whole German line.

Guerrilla warfare continues in Lorraine and the Vosges, where Germans and French, holding strong positions, thrust at each other in day and night, neither side able to progress despite small but most sanguinary engagements. This fighting, which would compel attention at another time, is lost sight of in the vast and dramatic combat at the west.

News as reassuring as tidings from the battle front comes from Bordeaux. The president and the cabinet council have been permitted to visit General Joffre's headquarters because the situation, for the first time, is favorable to the presence of the government near the battle front. The details of the new advance by the allies were emphasized by the government report, which removed fears that the German offensive had made important headway, as well as confirming news that the crown prince had been sent to the right about. The report was received here with the satisfaction that can be imagined.

A GOOD TIME TO GET YOUR BOOKS IN ORDER.

The Assessors are now giving out the assessment blanks and while giving a "true, full and complete list of all taxable property," it is a splendid time to get your books in order. Why not keep books? All business men do. Some house-keepers and many business women are found trying it, and a few succeed. Keep a financial account and in this way one may free himself of many extravagancies. System brings happiness that is far more lasting than the happy-go-lucky way, and every person should have a way of keeping books.

The assessment time may be an inventory time. We may look back through the year and see what we have accomplished, who we have helped and if we have improved our own way of living. If your disposition is better, if you worry less, if you have taken care of your health, if you are good to your fellow-man, if you love God and keep His commandments, then you will have happiness. Cut out that little word "if" in front of each sentence and you will have a most interesting book.

"MADE-IN-AMERICA" GOODS.

Now that all foreign doors are closed, our home manufacturers have the opportunity to make good, and, if their goods are better than those made in Germany and France, they will be successful.

People will not be happy, however, unless their "Made-in-America" clothes are equal to those they formerly wore from abroad. There is no greater pleasure and satisfaction than to buy goods at home when they suit, but, it is a miserable feeling to have to get things you do not like, just to be patriotic. The trouble is we buy better things away from home, pay more for them and when it comes to buying at home, we want to pay less. Less money gets an inferior class of goods and it is hard to come down to cheaper grades. Whether people are going to be satisfied with "Made-in-America" goods, that remains to be seen. If America makes them better, the people will; or, if the people will be willing to wear what they can afford, then the home products will be popular for the balance of time.

Patriotism wants her reward. People want to be pleased when they buy at home. He is well paid who satisfies his customers.

Four weeks until the November election. The "Danville Messenger" says to the Democrats as follows: "The Democrats must make up their minds to go to the polls and vote. Overconfidence has lost many battles, and, if many fail to vote, it may result in disaster. The Republicans are in much better condition than many people believe. Hundreds who voted the Bull Moose ticket now want to return to their first love and will stamp under the 'Log Cabin' this fall. This belief is based on reports from many sections of the state. Our old friends, the enemy, are smooth articles and will bear watching, so make up your minds to go to the polls in November and vote for the splendid ticket and stamp your approval on President Wilson's administration.

"War in the East! Peace in the West! Thank God for Wilson."—From the Democratic Text Book just out. Achievement is the keynote of this wonderful little book. It is a record of pledges to the people fulfilled, and a summary of the unprecedented performances of a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress. It contains editorial commendation of Woodrow Wilson—practically all from Republican or Independent newspapers. It will do any patriotic soul—Democrat, Republican or Progressive—good to get this book and read it.

No one would want to live in a town without churches. We should all be willing and eager to keep them beautiful and clean, well financed and attend their services.

If you complain at what you have, you get something worse, and to enjoy what each day brings is the only way to get something better.

'WOES OF THE POOR RICH.

How the Wife of One Wealthy Man Got Her Spending Money.

In the American Magazine, in a story by Rebecca Hooper Eastman, is a satire on the poor rich, in which the wife of a wealthy man tells as follows how she gets hold of her spending money:

"Kitty, dear, I can't bear that you should misjudge me, and so I am going to tell you what not a soul in this world knows. I have absolutely no money and no way of getting any. My husband doesn't think it is necessary for me to have money when I can charge things. I owe you a dollar. You think I have forgotten, but I have not. And I am going to pay you—when I can.

"I want to tell you that I have just discovered a way to make money. You see, I have borrowed so many small sums for tips and car fares that I am quite in debt.

"We have one of the finest cooks in New York, as you know, and I order him to make cakes. He thinks they are for a bazaar. In reality I sell these cakes at a certain woman's exchange for $1 a loaf, cash, Kitty. I leave my car at a nearby hotel, walk through the hotel to the exchange on the next street, wear a plain suit and a thick veil, which I put on in the hotel dressing room. Nobody knows."

"Half Dressed Girls" Close School.

Three thousand pupils of the Lyman (Mass.) schools enjoyed a holiday because Superintendent Peaslee "didn't want to subject half dressed girls to taking severe colds" while some of the school boilers were out of commission. "If girls would not come to school half dressed it would not be necessary for us to close the building on account of the cold weather," said the superintendent.

Obituary.

Saturday, September 19, at 3:30, came the "end of the perfect" on earth for one of the sweetest Christian spirits God has given Hardinsburg—Mrs. Marvin D. Beard.

For nine years Mrs. Beard had been a sufferer—a most patient and submissive one. Surely "her sun went down while it was yet day," for she was young and had much for which to live. Yet as she was often heard to say: "Our Heavenly Father knows," and in this as in all other things, "He does all things well," and never for once did she question the providence of God. She said so many times: "It's all right, I am in the hands of Jesus."

Her life was consecrated to God from early childhood—twelve years of age—and from that time to the time of her "going away," she was His child, whether waking; whether sleeping, in His care."

Her ill health so much of the time kept her at home, and it was here that her beautiful life shone the brightest. As a wife, she was perfectly devoted; as the mother of her three boys, Allie D., Marvin, Jr., and Ralph, she was all she could be. Kind, sweet, loving, untiring in her desire to "lead them in the paths of righteousness," and while so much of the time she was compelled to leave the care of them to others, yet she always watched their training; always coveted their confidence and love.

As a daughter, she was a gift from God. Her sweet, sympathetic nature, confiding in her mother as so few girls do, thoughtful in every way, and always leaning such a child-like faith in her mother. Her mother has been heard to say frequently: "It is a great pleasure to have such a daughter."

As a friend, she was loyal, kind and true, her confidence the very sweetest and purest. Only three weeks ago she had the pleasure of having in her home her girlhood friends. She enjoyed the reunion, spoke afterwards of how sweet it had been, and how much it meant for her to have those friends with her.

As a neighbor, she was kind, sympathetic, forgiving, generous and sincere.

In summing up Mrs. Beard's noble character, as one who has known her from early childhood, has been intimately acquainted with her, her whole life has been based on her "Faith in God," and she came to the end of the way—near the end of the journey too—"she repeatedly told her loved ones around her to hold on to their faith; to have faith in God through every condition." She said: "That's all there is to this life, and you will see when you get to the end of the way."

While deprived of so many of the privileges of her church, her life in the church was an example to all Christians. She did not have to go there to worship, for each day was a Sabbath to her, and her room or her bed, her pew in which she praised His name. And while she was suffering almost continuously, she could do it with a courage and a smile that only one whose faith is undaunted could do. Her life sang out, "My faith looks up to Thee, thou lamb of Calvary, Saviour divine."

The influence of such a life on her family, friends and any whose privilege it was to enter her home, or be in her companionship, will live through the years to come.

Some friend said of her: "You always felt better for having been with her." And while her husband, home, friends, the church, the community at large, will miss her, our loss is Heaven's gain. Her happiness in the great beyond will only make us strive harder to go to her and grieve for her here the less.

SEEKING PEACE

Rival Factions in Mexico May Get Together.

Naco, Ariz., special: General Maytorena has returned to the attack on Naco, Sonora. The assault has been furious and the attacking troops appear determined to take the town. Regardless of the warning from Colonel Guilfoyle, bullets are flying thick on the American side and all Americans have fled from Naco, Ariz., or taken to cover. One American soldier and one civilian have been wounded by stray bullets.

Washington special: The statement that Iglesias Calderon will accept the provisional presidency of Mexico if the tender of the office is made by more than a single element in the present factional fight, has been received by Constitutionalists here.

General Villa, in one of his statements of his position in his quarrel with Carranza, has announced that Carranza would be acceptable to him. Carranzaistas have also stated that Calderon was regarded favorably as a possible successor to General Carranza, who they allege was about to retire when Villa started his attack.

The refusal of the convention of officers in Mexico City to accept Carranza's resignation as first chief Saturday was expected. It had not been anticipated that Carranza would retire before the conference between his supporters and those of Villa had even assembled. This present week will see progress made toward an amicable settlement of all the factional difficulties of the Constitutionalists, it is predicted here.

Important to All Women

Readers of This Paper.

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dispondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, overworked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

MURDER OF BUSINESS MAN

Daniel Lovelace Shot to Death at Elizabethtown.

Columbus, Ind. special: Daniel Lovelace, fifty-two years old, a business man of Elizabethtown, six miles south of here, was shot to death with a revolver in the rear of the home of John Barr, seventy-five years old, a veteran of the civil war. There had been bad blood between Barr and Lovelace because of alleged intimacy between Lovelace and Barr's wife, who is fifty-two years old. Lovelace was named as co-defendant in a divorce case recently filed by Barr. No arrests have been made.

WORLD'S SERIES OUTLOOK SEEN BY BASEBALL EXPERT

How the Boston Braves Rate With the Philadelphia Athletics.

The contest for the baseball championship of the world makes an article by an expert in the New York Times of especial interest.

The situation which confronts the prophets in this year's world's series, says the writer, is difficult and uncertain, inasmuch as the Philadelphia Athletics of the American league outclass the Boston of the National league very decisively as far as comparison of past performances is concerned. The angle which increases the uncertainty is that Stallings' sensational Braves are an unknown, untried proposition as far as world's series play is concerned.

While the Athletics outclass the Braves in batting and base running, the Boston players have accomplished a remarkable achievement. They have made a meteoric rise from last place to first. They have acquired the "winning habit." The question is, "Will this winning habit carry them high and dry through the slugging Mack-men?"

Considering the matter coolly and cautiously on what baseball fans call the "dope," the Athletics should win with little trouble.

On the other hand, with three really remarkable pitchers like James, Rudolph and Tyler going at their best, the batting prowess of the Athletics may receive a severe setback.

But the same thing was said in 1910 about the Cub pitchers, Brown, Overall and Pfeister. Yet the Mack-men pounded them into oblivion without trouble. They did the same thing in 1911 to the Giant pitching staff, when Mathewson, Marquard and Tolan were supposed to be at the zenith of their pitching form. A heavy hitting club is always dangerous. It is apt to hit all kinds of pitching at all times.

WORLDWIDE LABOR INQUIRY.

Object of Rockefeller Foundation is to Seek Cure For "Bitter Enmities."

A worldwide investigation of the relations of labor and capital with the object of determining the causes of "bitter enmities" and searching out the remedy is to be undertaken by the Rockefeller foundation, which John D. Rockefeller endowed with $100,000,000. The scope of the inquiry is to be within our limit and the foundation trustees have chosen William Lyon Mackenzie King, former Canadian minister of labor, to direct the work.

In announcing the plan given out the trustees say that they realize that the foundation is "attempting to grapple with the most complicated question of modern times," but hope by a gradual and systematic approach to it to win "the co-operation, not alone of employers and workmen, of the industrial organizations, of individuals and institutions interested in social reform, but also of the universities and governments throughout the world."

Book Windows.

Books are the windows through which the soul looks out. A home without books is like a room without windows. No man has a right to bring up his children without surrounding them with books, if he has the means to buy them. It is a wrong to his family. He cheats them! The love of knowledge comes with reading, and grows upon it. SCENE OF BATTLE OF THE AISNE LIKE COUNTRY TORN BY CYCLONE

Striking Descriptive Story Tells How One Town Was Razed by Shells.

Daring Exploit of a French Air Man—Remarkable Incidents at the Front.

A REMARKABLE pen picture of the Aisne firing line and the destruction wrought in the greatest battle of the world's history is given in a dispatch to the New York Times:

Going over the battlefield of the Marne we found the battle had followed much the same tactics as a cyclone, in that in some places nothing, not even the haystacks, had been disturbed, while in others everything, the villages, roads and fields had been utterly devastated by shells.

As we drove carelessly over the brow of a hill, where the road dipped down a valley into the town, we were in direct line with the German fire, as great holes in the ground and fallen trees testified. On the way in we noticed a church steeple shot completely off, so after finding an inn, where the proprietor came from the cellar and offered to guard our car and prepare luncheon, we decided first to examine the church. The innkeeper explained that we had come during a lull in the bombardment, but the silent, deserted place lulled all sense of danger. The verger showed us over the church, and we were walking through the ruined nave when suddenly we heard a sound like the shrill whistling of the wind.

"It begins again," our conductor said simply. As the speech ended we heard a loud boom and the sound of falling masonry as a shell struck the far end of the building. We hurried to the hotel, the shells screaming overhead. We saw the buildings tumbling into ruins, glass falling in fine powder and remnants of furniture hanging grotesquely from scraps of masonry.

Sensation Under Fire.

All my life I had wondered what would be the sensation if I ever were under fire—would I be afraid? To my intense relief I suddenly became fatalistic. I was under fire with a vengeance, but instead of being afraid I kept saying to myself, "Being afraid won't help matters; besides, nothing will happen if we just keep close to the walls and away from the middle street."

On the way we met two men in English uniform, who later denounced us as spies. We hailed them, and they replied that they had been cut off from their regiment and were now fighting with the French. Just as luncheon was announced eight soldiers fled into the hotel, arrested us and marched us before the commandant, who saw that our papers were all right, but suggested that on account of the dangerous position we leave as soon as possible.

During the episode of arrest there was another lull in the bombardment, which began again as we were seated at luncheon. All through the meal the shells whistled and screamed overhead, and the dishes rattled constantly on the table.

When the meal was over the proprietor called us to witness what had happened to the far wing of the hotel. It was completely demolished. "Alert!" had just been sounded, and the soldiers were running through the streets. We ran out in time to see a building falling half a block away, completely filling the street by which we had entered the town an hour earlier.

Airship in a Hail of Shells.

In a few minutes we heard the sharp crackle of infantry fire about half a mile away, and we had a sudden desire to get away before the automobile retreat was cut off. Just then we heard the sound of an aero engine overhead. It was flying so low that through a glass we could easily see the whirling propeller. The machine was mounted with a rapid fire gun which was trying to locate the German gunners, who immediately abandoned the destruction of the town in an attempt to bring it down. For ten minutes we saw shells bursting all about it. At times it was lost in smoke, but when the smoke cleared there was the monoplane still blazing away, always mounting to a higher level, and finally disappearing toward the French lines.

We passed the night at a village where considerable execution had been done by German shells. We saw one curious effect of them. In a historic building near the city hall there was a shell imbedded in the wall, with a plate affixed beneath it, showing it struck there in the year 1814. Just next to it was an unexploded shell of a hundred years after sticking in the wall.

We again struck out toward the battle line, but when we were within sound of the firing the authorities decided we had seen enough of war and detained us for two days as guests of a regimental staff which was quartered in a cow yard. There we were privileged to see how the French soldiers lived. We ate with them and slept with them in the straw until finally orders came to send us to Paris.

A Story of Heroism.

French soldiers were walking into German ambush. French and English who tried to signal them were picked off by sharpshooters. Only way to intercept them was over open land raked by German guns. Two English cyclists were shot down trying to ride it. A third made it through an inferno of bullets. The French commander of the halted column advanced and pinned his medal to the breast of the British cyclist. "It was given me for saving one life," he explained. "I have the honor of giving it to you for saving hundreds."

Convicts Eager to Fight.

Convicts in nearly every prison in England are voluntarily working three hours overtime daily to provide army requisites. Most first offenders are begging to go to the front. A burglar spokesman pleaded to be permitted to "work out the rest of our time on the firing line, if it is only digging trenches."

Added to such names as Alsace Lorraine Jones appear the following on the London Insurance register, showing the effect of the war on newcomers in the world: Kitchener Barry, John Jellicoe Walker, George Bank Holiday Smith and Only Fancy Henry White.

A woman of Raon l'Etape during the German bombardment spent four days and nights in the same cellar where in 1870 she took refuge from the Germans.

Tricking Enemy's Air Men.

A correspondent of the London Chronicle sends a description of the crafty way in which the French sappers construct trenches so that they are hidden from the eyes of German aviators.

"I watched them at their task," he says, "and they made it a work of art, covering the trenches most craftily with grass and leaves, so that even German aviators flying low would never perceive these pits along the way-side whence French riflemen would pour withering fire upon the enemy's battalions."

Eats as Legs Are Cut Off.

The immediate amputation of an Austrian officer's legs was necessary. When this information was conveyed to him he said:

"All right, but first give me some food."

The food was furnished and the officer ate all through the operation, which was performed without the administration of an anæsthetic.

Give Up Gems For Guns.

According to reports received in Rome a committee of women has been formed to induce all the women of Germany to give up their gold ornaments to be turned into a fund to buy arms.

Several million marks have thus been gathered. Each woman receives in exchange an iron ring inscribed, "I gave gold for this."

The Merciless Censor.

The strictness of the censorship may be judged from an article in the Echo de Paris, which begins:

"There is no danger of my being indiscreet. I know no more than anybody. But I believe that without saying too much I can say—"

Then followed six lines of blankness. The censor evidently was of opposite opinion to that of the writer.

SECOND LARGEST HARBOR.

That at Rockport, Mass., Will Rank Next to Cherbourg, France.

At Rockport, Mass., close to the tip of the shores of Cape Ann, a breakwater is being built which is one of the most notable examples of marine engineering on record. It was commenced in 1885, when it was estimated that ten years' labor and $5,000,000 would construct it. The completion is not yet in sight, however, the delay having been occasioned by the smallness and infrequency of appropriations which have never been above $200,000. There have been years, indeed, when no stone was laid.

The breakwater, which, in the form of an oblique angle, will shut off Sandy bay from the ocean proper, is, at its angle, two miles out from Rockport and when completed will inclose an area of water of 1,664 acres, making Sandy bay the second largest harbor in the world—that of Cherbourg, France, standing first.

The harbor under construction will have two entrances, one at the north and another at the south, so that, in any wind, it will be an easy matter to make one or the other of the openings.

Smith-Lever Act Is Educational.

Many letters are being received by the United States department of agriculture, which indicate that farm women in various sections believe the government is about to assist them with grants of money. This mistake appears to have arisen through a misunderstanding of the Smith-Lever act, under which funds contributed both by the federal and state governments are made available for practical demonstration work in agriculture and home economics. The purposes of the act are thus entirely educational, and there are no provisions whatever for direct financial assistance.

Kentucky School Laws

Enforced Attendance
Section 204

Parents and Guardians to Send Them to School.—Every parent, guardian or other person residing within the boundry of the county school district law, and having the custody, control or supervision of any child, or children between the ages of seven and twelve years, inclusive, shall cause such child or children to be enrolled in and to attend some public or private day or parochial school regularly for the full common school or graded common school term in each year in the common school district of the county in which such children may live in the commonwealth.

Section 205.

Penalty for False Statement.—Any parent, guardian, or other person having the custody, control or supervision of any child embraced within the provisions of this act, who, with the intent to evade the provisions of this act, shall make a false statement concerning the age of such child or the time such child has attended school, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof may be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or both be fined and imprisoned at the discretion of the court.

Section 206

Penalty for Violation.—Any parent, guardian or other person failing to comply with the provisions of this act shall forfeit to the use of the schools within the district in which such child lives a sum not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than twenty dollars ($20.00) for the first offense nor less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for the second and every subsequent offense, and cost of suit.

ENEMY'S FORCES PUSHED BACK

Russians Reported on the Offensive Everywhere.

ADVANCING IN EAST PRUSSIA

Germans Said to Be Withdrawing In Suwalki Province, Poland, Toward Their Frontier—Austrians Also Being Driven Out of South Poland. Battle of Cracow Slowly Developing—Operations In Eastern Zone.

Petrograd, Oct. 5.—It is officially announced that the Russian armies are everywhere on the offensive. General Rennenkampf is advancing in East Prussia, sending strong forces of Cossacks towards the Vistula and the Danzig-Thorn line of fortresses. The Russians claim that practically all the ground lost in East Prussia by the defeat at Allenstein has been recovered. The Germans are withdrawing towards their frontier in the Suwalki province and the Russians are pursuing them.

The Germans and Austrians are being driven back from South Poland toward the Posen-Kalisz-Czenstachowa line of defense. There is no official information as to operations in the Cracow region other than that the battle of Cracow is slowly developing.

"The battle of Augustowo ended Oct. 3 in a victory for the Russian arms. The German defeat is complete," announces the general staff headquarters. "The enemy is in a disordered retreat, and in flight toward the East Prussian frontier. The Russian troops are in close pursuit, the Germans abandoning in their desperate march trains, cannon and munitions, not having even time to gather up their wounded."

Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief of the forces, is reported to be at Warsaw conferring with the czar.

There is no attempt to underestimate the importance of the campaign in East Prussia. General Rennenkampf is now employing a great force, estimated at not less than 400,000. There is a report that the Germans have assembled eleven army corps to defend their lines of defense. General Rennenkampf is expected to press steadily toward the Danzig-Thorn line in order to increase the safety of the direct advance against Breslau by the Russian central army. Meanwhile the southern army is fighting to break through the Cracow gate to Silesia.

POINCARÉ OFF FOR FRONT

Will Visit General Field Headquarters In Northern France.

Bordeaux, Oct. 5.—President Poincaré is now on his way to visit the allied armies in northern France. He left here in an automobile, accompanied by Premier Viviani and M. Millerand, the minister of war. The party will go first to the general field headquarters.

It is officially stated that President Poincaré has been desirous for some time of paying a visit to the forces in the field. During the absence of Premier Viviani, M. Aristide Briand, the minister of justice, will preside over the meetings of the cabinet.

Predicts German Defeat.

New York, Oct. 5.—Timothy Healy, M. P., who arrived here from Liverpool with several other notable Britons, expressed confidence in the ultimate defeat of the Kaiser's armies in the campaign in France. "The Kaiser," the Irish leader said, "has lost all the admiration which the world had bestowed upon him and Germany by the manner in which Belgium was attacked to make a short cut to Paris."

EXCEED 300,000

French Losses Up to and Including the Battle of the Marne.

New York, Oct. 5.—A letter received by a New York physician from a reputable source in France contains the startling information that the French losses (killed, wounded and prisoners) for the six weeks' fighting up to and including the battle of the Marne were slightly over 300,000, perhaps 310,000, exclusive of the English losses, which, the writer says, "have been fairly large in comparison to the small number of their engaged army."

Turkey's War Preparations.

Constantinople, Oct. 5.—The Ottoman government is apparently settling at rest any discussion regarding their intentions against the Russians. They have been setting mines and torpedoes in the Bosphorus and have stretched chains across the channel. They are also putting new guns in the Black sea forts Kilia, Riva and Maraburun.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 35c and 50c.

COMBINATION OF MATERIALS.

Plain white cotton crape with crape striped in red and bordered with white and red dots makes a smart and effective combination in this summer frock, which follows the summer rule of combination of materials. The loose lines of the blouse, complemented by the vatee of sheer embroidered handkerchief linen and the short Russian tunic, not extending all the way around, have the right touch of summeriness.

RUSSIAN VICTORIES

The Kaiser's Invading Forces Driven Back.

Petrograd special: An official communication from general staff headquarters says: The battle of Augustowo ended in a victory for the Russian arms. The German defeat is complete. The enemy is at this moment in a disordered retreat and in flight toward the East Prussian frontier.

Petrograd special: It is officially announced that Russian armies everywhere are on the offensive. General Rennenkampf is advancing in East Prussia, sending strong forces of Cossacks toward the Vistula and the Danzig-Thorn line of fortresses. Practically all of the ground lost by the defeat at Allenstein has been recovered.

In the Suwalki province and to the south the Germans are hastily withdrawing toward their frontier, their invasion having been broken. Russian columns are pursuing scattered forces, taking many prisoners and finding artillery and motor supply wagons abandoned by the Germans after their disasters at the River Niemen.

The Russian central army is sweeping forces of Germans and Austrians from South Poland and driving them back toward the Posen-Kalisz-Czenstachowa line of defenses. The Grand Duke Nicholas, commander in chief, is reported to be at Warsaw conferring with the emperor.

Army Nearing Cracow.

The battle of Cracow slowly is developing. There is no official information as to the operations in the Cracow region. The newspapers are receiving reports that Russian cavalry is active near Jedrzejew, about fifty miles northeast of Cracow, and is pressing forces of German and Austrian horse. Most important news is expected from the Cracow region within forty-eight hours.

There is no attempt here to underestimate the importance of the campaign in East Prussia. General Rennenkampf is now employing a great force estimated at not less than 400,000. There is a report that the Germans have assembled eleven army corps to defend their lines of defense. General Rennenkampf is expected to press steadily toward the Danzig-Thorn line in order to increase the safety of the direct advance against Breslau by the Russian central army. Meanwhile the southern army is fighting to break through the Cracow gate to Silesia.

THEY PRAYED FOR PEACE

President and Members of Cabinet Take Part in Services.

Washington special: The president and officers of the government Sunday took part in prayer services for the restoration of peace among the nations of Europe. Nearly all of the churches of the capital held prayer services in observance of the president's proclamation which set the day apart as peace Sunday.

Mr. Wilson attended services at the Central Presbyterian church. With the congregation there he recited a special prayer for peace. In the afternoon a special peace service was held at St. Albans cathedral, at which the members of the cabinet and many other officials were present.

Sarajevo Surrounded.

Florence special: Sarajevo has been completely invested by the Montenegrins, who have captured important positions east of the city and severed railway communication to the west and north.

HOUSING POULTRY.

Remember that most cases of colds and roup are incurred in the fall because birds are not housed as early as they should be. Fowls are timid in new quarters and are prone to crowd and huddle together on the roosts and drop boards. In this way they become overheated at night only to be chilled when they separate in the morning. It is an excellent plan, therefore, to house a few at first and as soon they feel at home add a few more until the pen has received its capacity.

It is an accepted fact that any change in location affects the laying stock. Therefore in order to induce early laying the pullets should be put in permanent winter quarters two or three weeks before they are expected to mature.—A. C. Smith, Poultryman, Minnesota Experiment Station.

IMPORTED SEEDS ADVANCE.

Crimson Clover and Hairy Vetch Seed Prices Show Upward Tendency.

Prices for imported crimson clover and hairy vetch seed have recently shown such a marked upward tendency that specialists of the department of agriculture fear that the cost of these seeds, of which Europe is the chief source, will interfere with the increasing use of these leguminous cover crops. In fact, it is feared that the prices of the seed of these legumes may go so high as to make it inadvisable to plant them this year.

Before the present European conditions arose crimson clover seed was selling at from $4 to $5 per bushel. Up to Aug. 15 there was a scarcity of this seed in the United States, owing to the fact that the receipts from Europe were smaller than usual. The prices then advanced to from $7.50 to $9 per bushel. Since that date importations have continued to arrive until there is now more imported seed available for fall seeding than there was in this country a year ago at this time. This seed, according to the department's information, was all imported at approximately the same price as that sold for $4 to $4.50 per bushel in the early part of the season. The present high price, therefore, is regarded by the department as unwarranted from the standpoint of the supply and the import price of the seed. Some dealers are continuing to sell at the former price, but these are exceptions.

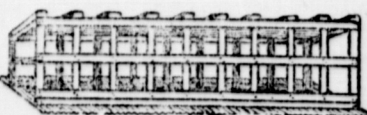

If the present high price is maintained the specialists are doubtful whether crimson clover can be profitably used as a green manure crop for seeding in corn or on vacant ground or under other conditions where the catch is not reasonably certain. Under such conditions they point out that it will be better practice to sow rye this fall and use the difference in price in adding nitrogen to the soil in the form of nitrate of soda or some other highly nitrogenous fertilizer. The rye will afford a winter cover, preventing washing and leaching, and can be plowed under in the spring to add humus to the soil.

When crimson clover is being used regularly as a winter cover crop in orchard culture or where local experience indicates that a good catch and a good crop are practically certain, payment of a higher price for the seed will no doubt be justified.

A somewhat similar condition exists with reference to hairy vetch seed. There has been approximately six sevenths as much seed imported since Nov. 1, 1913, as in the year previous. This shortage, however, is partly counterbalanced by the increasing domestic production of hairy vetch seed. Wherever the price of hairy vetch seed is found to be exorbitant the same change in farm practice is recommended as that suggested in the case of crimson clover.

Woven Wire Corncrib.

This practical, economical crib, that can be built almost while the wagon waits, is constructed as follows: Make a foundation of short posts placed four feet apart, with tops fifteen inches above the surface of the ground. The number depends on the length of the crib. Put inverted pans over posts to keep rats out.

To make the crib use 2 by 6's as sleepers on which to place the flooring. Make the front of the crib eight feet high and the rear six feet. At the top, bottom and middle of the studding spike 2 by 6 planks or strong boards to thoroughly brace the crib. These brace planks extend lengthwise of the crib and also across the end.

The inside planking at the bottom, middle and top serves as a support for strong small meshed wire, which takes the place of staves or walls. By using small mesh wire this crib is made rat proof. If the crib is twelve feet in length some inside bracing is necessary to keep the sides from spreading and there should be a set door at both ends.

Cobb's Numerous Retort.

When Irvin Cobb and four other newspaper correspondents, among them John T. McCutcheon of the Chicago Tribune, had been captured by, and were under the surveillance of, the Germans, they proposed to continue with the Germans, and the officer in charge remonstrated. "But we had no correspondents with the German army," Cobb was not at all perturbed. Rolling his cigar comfortably in the corner of his mouth and looking up to see if there were any signs of war he affably assured the perplexed officer, "Well, you've got five now."

OCCUPY OUTER DEFENSES!

Japanese Forces Overcoming Germans at Tsingtao.

Peking special: Without further diplomatic controversy the Japanese are proceeding along the railway to Tsinan. Their troops at Weihsien, who occupied the station there, have been reinforced. The Chinese have not withdrawn from the line, but are not opposing the Japanese march westward.

Reports from Tsinanfu state that three German batteries were put out of action at Fort Bismarck during the naval bombardment of Tsingtao. The adjacent barracks were set on fire and the outer defenses were occupied by the allies after three days' fighting.

The military occupation of the Shanghai railway is opposed by pro-German Chinese agitators. Viewed from a military standpoint, the occupation of this line is none wary, as it is being run by Germans.
